

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A connector includes: a terminal fitting having a bent portion; and an outer covering configured to cover a part of the terminal fitting, the part including the bent
5 portion. The outer covering includes: an outer covering body made of resin; and a reinforcement member disposed at a position where restricting a deformation of the terminal fitting caused by an injection pressure acting thereon in molding the outer covering body.